

BIOGRAPHY

BILL LAWRENCE

Creator and Executive Producer on ABC's "Scrubs"

Bill Lawrence is an award-winning television writer, producer and director.

Through his production company Doozer Productions, Lawrence has a number of shows in various stages of production at Warner Bros. Television: "Shrinking," Season 3 begins streaming on Apple TV January 2026; "Rooster," HBO comedy starring Steve Carell which will launch in March 2026; and "Bad Monkey" starring Vince Vaughn, also for Apple TV, which is in production with its second season which will stream in 2026.

Additionally, Lawrence is a co-creator/executive producer of "Ted Lasso," the two-time Emmy® Award winner for Outstanding Comedy Series, which is set to return for Season 4 on Apple TV. He is executive producing the "Scrubs" reboot for ABC from 20th Television which launches in February 2026.

Lawrence previously created and executive produced "Scrubs" and co-created "Cougar Town," "Ground Floor," "Spin City" and "Clone High." "Scrubs," which was twice nominated for an Emmy Award, was also named a Future Classic by the TV Land cable network and was the winner of both a Humanitas Award and an Imagen Award. Lawrence also executive produced/supervised numerous shows under his Doozer banner including "Whiskey Cavalier," "Undateable," "Nobody's Watching," "Surviving Jack," "Head of the Class" and the "Clone High" reboot for HBO Max.

Recently, Lawrence was a recipient of The Paley Honors Award as well as the Writers Guild of America East's Herb Sargent Award for Comedy Excellence at the 77th annual WGA Awards.

Lawrence currently resides in Los Angeles with his wife, actress Christa Miller ("Shrinking," "The Drew Carey Show," "Scrubs"); their daughter, singer/actress Charlotte Lawrence; and sons Will and Henry.