It's the story that dominated the headlines and had everyone talking this summer: the guilty plea of Bryan Kohberger. Maddie Mogen, Kaylee Goncalves, Xana Kernodle and Ethan Chapin were the four University of Idaho students whose lives ended tragically when they violently collided with Kohberger in the early morning hours of Nov. 13, 2022. Whitworth has been reporting on the case since 2022, and on her ABC News Audio podcast "The King Road Killings: An Idaho Murder Mystery." Now, she returns to Idaho, uncovering new details about the crime, evidence and Kohberger's shocking guilty plea in an all-new "20/20," FRIDAY, SEPT. 5 (9:01-11:00 p.m. EDT) and streaming the next day on Hulu.

The two-hour long program includes exclusive interviews with those who knew the victims best, including Ethan Chapin's parents, Jim and Stacy, and siblings, Hunter and Maizie; Kaylee's sister, Alivea; Maddie's father, Ben; and friends Emily Alandt, Hunter Johnson, Josie Lauteren and Elijah Hall. "20/20" also talks to lead ISP investigator Darren Gilbertson, Latah County prosecutor Bill Thompson, Moscow Police Chief Anthony Dahlinger, FBI acting supervisor Agent Ed Jacobson (Ret.), Othram founders David and Kristen Mittelman, and Cellebrite's Heather and Jared Barnhart.
