

BIOGRAPHY
Evanna Lynch
Ameline

Actress, podcaster and writer Evanna Lynch voices Ameline in “Dragon Striker.”

Lynch’s professional career began at the age of 14 when she played the role of quirky misfit Luna Lovegood in the “Harry Potter” film series. She also voiced her character in the tie-in video games.

Since then, Lynch has continued to act on screen and stage. In 2023, she starred as the lead in “Under the Black Rock” at London’s Arcola Theatre. Additional recent credits include a run of Enda Walsh’s cult-classic play “Disco Pigs,” Ryan Craig’s “Games for Lovers,” and “The Omission of the Family Coleman.” She played the titular role in the Irish indie “My Name Is Emily,” which was nominated for a number of Irish Film and Television Academy Awards, as well as winning at the Galway Film Fleadh.

She is a vegan and animal rights advocate, and the creator/host of the vegan podcast “The ChickPeeps,” as well as the co-host of “Just Beings” with Dr. Melanie Joy.

Lynch is also a keen writer and released her debut book, “The Opposite of Butterfly Hunting: The Tragedy and Glory of Growing Up; A Memoir,” in October 2021.

As a voice artist, she is passionate about animation and audiobooks. She voiced Siobhan in the 2022 audiobook version of “The No Show” by bestselling author Beth O’Leary, accompanied by two more exciting audiobook releases planned for early 2026.