

BIOGRAPHY

DANIELLE FISHEL

Contestant on ABC's "Dancing with the Stars"

Danielle Fishel is best known for her iconic role as Topanga on the '90s TGIF staple "Boy Meets World." She would later reprise the role for "Girl Meets World," a millennial reboot that ran for three seasons on Disney Channel. Since 2017, Fishel has moved behind the camera, directing over 50 episodes of multicamera television, including Disney Channel's "Wizards Beyond Waverly Place" and "Raven's Home" (for which she was nominated for two Emmys®), ABC's "Shifting Gears" and NBC's "Lopez vs. Lopez." She also co-hosts the hit iHeart podcast "Pod Meets World," alongside her best friends and former costars Will Friedle and Rider Strong. Additionally, Fishel is passionate about her clean and affordable hair care line, Be Free by Danielle Fishel, which is available online and through QVC.
