JAKE McLAUGHLIN

Michael Ormwood on ABC's "Will Trent"

Jake McLaughlin is best known for starring in ABC's "Quantico" opposite Priyanka Chopra. Prior to this, McLaughlin was the star of the J.J. Abrams/Alfonso Cuarón series "Believe" for NBC. Beforehand, he filmed Oliver Stone's "The Savages," the Warner Independent Pictures feature "In the Valley of Elah," and Gavin O'Connor's "Warrior" at Lionsgate. He was also the lead of Franka Potente's directorial feature debut "Home" opposite Kathy Bates.

Most recently, McLaughlin can be seen in the Apple TV+ series "Black Bird" with Taron Egerton and Paul Walter Hauser, "Black Diamond" with Inbar Lavi and Ray Panthaki, and "Site" alongside Arielle Kebbel and Theo Rossi. He is currently starring in the 20th Television/ABC series "Will Trent," based on Karin Slaughter's bestselling novels.

Prior to his career as an actor, McLaughlin served in the U.S. Army's 3rd Infantry Division on the front lines.
