

JANAI NORMAN

Co-Anchor, "Good Morning America" Saturday and Sunday Anchor, "ABC News Live Weekend"

Janai Norman is a co-anchor of "Good Morning America" on Saturday and Sunday. She also anchors "ABC News Live Weekend" on a rotating basis with her co-anchors since the streaming network expanded its weekend programming.

Prior to her role as co-anchor, Norman was a correspondent for ABC News based in New York, reporting for multiple ABC News programs and platforms. As a correspondent, Norman covered a wide range of topics, from politics to entertainment and sports. She covered major historical moments, including the COVID-19 pandemic and protests following the death of George Floyd. She also hosted the Pop News segment for the weekend edition of "Good Morning America" and helped launch the second hour of Saturday's "GMA" in October 2019.

Additionally, Norman previously co-anchored "World News Now" and "America This Morning," reporting on major news stories, including Prince Harry and Duchess Meghan stepping back from the royal family, the death of Jeffrey Epstein, and the aftermath of Hurricane Dorian.

Norman has covered the Trump administration, Capitol Hill, and breaking news stories for local ABC affiliates as a multiplatform reporter based in Washington, D.C.

Norman appeared in the Hulu special "Breaking the Mental Health Stigma for Black Women" and spoke about her challenges and journey with mental health.

As a general assignment reporter and fill-in anchor, Norman has worked at local television stations in Columbia, Missouri; Tulsa, Oklahoma; and Orlando, Florida. In these roles, she covered the Pulse nightclub shooting and the devastating tornado that tore through Moore, Oklahoma.

In 2011, Norman began her career with ABC News in New York as an intern with NewsOne. She is a graduate of the University of Missouri-Columbia.
