

SOPHIE FLAY

Co-Anchor, "World News Now," "Good Morning America First Look"

Sophie Flay is a co-anchor of "World News Now" and "Good Morning America First Look."

Before joining ABC News, Flay was a general assignment reporter at ABC7/KABC-TV in Los Angeles, where she covered some of Southern California's biggest stories. Her reporting included the Monterey Park mass shooting, the raid of Sean "Diddy" Combs' Los Angeles estate, the Oscars® and the 2025 Los Angeles wildfires, where she was among the first reporters on the scene of the Eaton fire.

A graduate of the University of Southern California, Flay has also served as an adjunct professor at her alma mater before joining ABC News.